Biography

I'm a career-minded individual who loves telling California Agriculture's story. My interests and skills are varied. I can talk to just about anyone and my interviewing skills are strong.

I have an affinity toward agriculture, social media, history, digital media, music, literature, the natural world, and especially writing and photography.

I have a great personality and a good sense of humor; I can take a joke. I have a strong work ethic and don't mind putting in the extra hours to get the job done.

I don't talk much, but I'll talk your ear off on a few subjects. Craft beer, California Agriculture and Western history are some of them.
